comparing the liberal jewish ethics of the german jewish philosophers ernst cassirer and hannah arendt this book argues that both espoused a diasporic worldly conception of jewish identity that was anchored in a pluralist and politically engaged interpretation of jewish history and an abiding interest in the complex lived reality of modern jews arendt's indebtedness to liberal jewish thinkers such as moses mendelssohn abraham geiger hermann cohen and ernst cassirer has been obscured by her modernist posture and caustic critique of the assimilationism of her german jewish forebears by reorienting our conception of arendt as a profoundly secular thinker anchored in twentieth century political debates we are led to rethink the philosophical political and ethical

legacy of liberal jewish discourse
