cigar box lithographs the inside stories uncovered is a thought provoking production exposing its readership to more than 160 vintage cigar boxes manufactured during the late 19th and early 20th centuries most convey stunning lithographs that portray prominent historical figures such as cigar boxes during the 19th century attracted a massive smoking clientele numbering in the millions while smokers more than one hundred years ago likely recognized the prominent personalities peering at them from the inside labels of these wooden cigar boxes those same headlined names today are now essentially erased from memory. Lew Wallace 1827-1905 portrayed in this stunning portrait label is virtually a forgotten name today. World famous during his day he was not only a major general during the Civil War but became more famous when he wrote what some consider to be the best selling novel of the 19th century, "Ben-Hur" (see page 34). A novel that was turned into a Hollywood blockbuster winning a record eleven Oscars in 1959 was certainly the most read and the best known book title during the 20th century. That is until it was superseded by "Gone with the Wind" in the 1930s. By examining the cartouche to the left of this stunning label portrait one detects Wallace's role as a general during the Civil War especially at the Battle of Shiloh. The cartouche to the right of his portrait details his writing studio in Crawfordsville, Indiana. This is where his most famous novel was written. Cigar boxes from the past often became an educational platform inadvertently recording and preserving history to this day. This nearly 120-year-old collectible cigar container whispers its provocative past that is providing one takes time out to lift its lid and peer at the lithographic image waiting to be rediscovered or uncovered. Peer long enough and the box just might whisper its past to you.

Cigar box lithographs volume IV, written and compiled by Charles J. A. Humber, the fourth in a series, showcases the author's longtime passion for tobacco-related collectibles. Like the previous volumes, this beautifully illustrated book is a historical window into the world of cigar box ephemera. In the newest edition, Humber starts off in his signature style with a deep dive into a rare collectible; in this case, it's a cigar box with the inside cover emblazoned with the beloved bard. Humber delves into the cigar box's provenance (New York) then quickly shifts to Shakespeare's enduring cachet, speaking about his plays, sonnets, and Ontario's famous Stratford Festival. Also similar to its precursors, in volume IV readers are once again treated to Humber's chatty, erudite writing style. Reading it no doubt makes cigar box lithographs fans feel like they're sitting down with a treasured friend, enjoying a long and fascinating conversation.

For close to a decade, Charlie Humber's discovery and documentation of the forgotten stories hidden beneath century-old wooden cigar box lids continues in
