from frankenstein and dracula to psycho and the chainsaw massacre horror fiction has provided our culture with some of its most enduring themes and narratives considering horror fiction both as a genre and as a social phenomenon joseph gixti provides a theoretical and historical framework for reconsidering horror and the cultural apparatus that surrounds it first published in 1989 this book looks at shifts in the genre s meaning its fascination with excess its commentaries on the categories and boundaries of culture and at interpretations of horror from psychology psychoanalysis sociology cultural and media studies terrors of uncertainty brings together a provocative range of perspectives from across the disciplines which combine to raise important questions about the relationship between fiction and society and the way in which we use fiction to resolve or evade our fears of uncertainty first published in 1964 behaviour in uncertainty begins with an analysis of the manner in which we weigh evidence or commit ourselves to a course of action from here it is but a step of choices when life and limb are at stake as in the behaviour of motorists and pedestrians on the road or when suicide is contemplated alone or with a loved one in all these situations as in acrobatics or on the playing field there are elements of risk and hazard and in all of them the individual may suffer from one of many diseases of decision making these variations on the theme of behaviour in uncertainty are traced by the author in experimental predicaments in adventures of the imagination in moments of crisis and in the confrontation with death all this jumps to life historically when viewed against the background of divinatory practices through the ages these universal practices demonstrate man s never ending efforts to conquer the uncertainties that desert him and in particular to wrest the secrets which the future has in store this is an interesting read for students of psychology seismic cultural and political shifts are under way in the arab gulf monarchies the political upheavals and transitions that have swept through the arab world over the last 2 years have not toppled the arab gulf rulers but did not leave them untouched either rulers of gulf cooperation council gcc states face heightened internal and external challenges and uncertainties pro democracy protests and calls are extending from bahrain to other oil rich countries of the arabian peninsula the expectations of gcc citizens particularly the educated youth are increasingly moving from socio economic demands to political ones they are now not only asking for jobs or wage increases but also for more political participation and accountability chief among internal challenges is the resurgence in several gcc countries particularly bahrain and saudi arabia of a decades long sectarian rift between the sunni regimes and their shia subjects the gulf regimes already tense relations with iran have worsened on the basis of alleged iranian interference inflaming sectarian tensions in bahrain and across the broader region this insightful book critically assesses the subjectivist metatheoretical origins of the revival of modern austrian economics it examines the ideas of the main contributors to the austrian school including von mises von hayek and lachmann allen oakley analyses the contribution to subjectivist philosophy made by the key founders of the neo austrian revival he argues that while von mises and von hayek each confronted mainstream microeconomics with restricted subjectivist alternatives lachmann played the devil's advocate for a more comprehensive range of subjectivist principles the author finds that ultimately although all three provided analyses that reached well beyond the confines of neoclassical economics none fully applied the tenets of a complete subjectivism their contributions to the 1970s revival of interest in austrian themes and their legacies for neo austrian schools of thought have thus left a great need for further methodological development if economics as a human science is to be reconstructed on subjectivist foundations the revival of modern austrian economics will be of central interest to students and scholars of austrian economics and to historians of economic thought and methodology more generally it does this by combining substantial reviews with shorter illustrative examples of grief mourning and death ritual as they are manifest in specific settings and with defined groups these illustrative examples include personal and institutional responses to death at different points in the life cycle and responses to different sorts of death the death of children and death in disasters for example
