this new work offers a clear and concise analysis of the law relating to the mis selling of regulated financial services products the introductory chapters cover the history of mis selling from their origins at common law to the modern regulated environment it also addresses important practical points for those pleading and defending financial mis selling claims focussing on the various causes of action and limitation periods it provides an overview of the uk and european regulatory framework governing the sale of financial products and considers in detail five key product types credit mortgages interest rate hedging products insurance and collective investment schemes each chapter looks at the sector specific issues and the various mis selling scandals of the last decade and the case law that emerged from them in recent years there has been an acute crisis of worker representation in the finance sector in britain labour union and staff association membership and density has fallen collective organisation has experienced dislocation and disorganisation and worker self confidence has been sapped prior to this there was a sense of an identifiable trajectory towards greater unionateness by labour unions and staff associations with the sector moving towards growing self identification of employees as workers and the use of traditional tools of collective bargaining such as threats of strikes and strikes themselves this study documents and explains these changes in wider historical terms providing invaluable reading for those interested in the future of both the labour movement and the finance sector some issues accompanied by supplements the debates around financial services regulation are fierce and unending and with every new development or law rigid positions seem to grow in this insightful new book expert author john a consiglio discusses developments in this vital part of the wide world of finance this report examines the supply of home credit in the uk the commission found that most home credit loans are for relatively small sums paid in cash usually less than 500 with the vast majority of home credit lending done by companies which engage agents to visit customers homes to collect repayments or assess credit worthiness and make loans the commission has only investigated legitimate licensed businesses and the state of competition in home credit which should be distinguished from illegal lenders often referred to as loan sharks the commission did find that credit lenders lent about 1 3 billion to around 2 3 million customers in 2005 and collected around 1 8 billion in repayments the commission found that six large lenders accounted for around 90 of the market in home credit with one company provident financial plc provident accounted for around 60 of the market the profile of home credit customers were generally female under 35 years old to have young families and fall into economic groups d and e and to live in a low income household and in rented council or housing association homes the commission also found that the prices of home credit loans however measured were high in comparison with the prices of other credit products that prices were higher in the uk than the republic of ireland and when customers repaid loans earlier the price was particularly high the commission also found the provision of a home collection service involved high costs by comparison with other forms of credit and that profits have been persistently and substantially in excess of the cost of capital for firms that represented a substantial part of the market the commission reached the view that the home credit service was valued by customers but that the prices they paid were higher than they would need to be to reflect the costs of providing the service and higher than they would be in a competitive market and that price competition among home credit lenders was weak this weakness of price competition due to both customer insensitivity to prices and the failure of lenders to compete were features that prevented restricted and distorted competition furthermore the lack of data sharing between lenders the customers requirement for an agent they can trust and the regulatory prohibition on door to door canvassing of loans are features that give rise to an adverse effect on competition aec the competition commission has set out a number of recommendations including the requirement of lenders to share data on the payment records of their customers through credit reference agencies to ensure lenders publish prices of their home credit loans to try and ensure that statements of loan accounts provide information relevant to home credit customers and to ensure that the rebates paid when loans are settled early are fair to home credit borrowers and lenders
