this book examines the little understood end of art theses of hegel nietzsche and danto the end of art claim is often associated with the end of a certain standard of taste or skill however at a deeper level it relates to a transformation in how we philosophically understand our relation to the world hegel nietzsche and danto each strive philosophically to overcome cartesian dualism redrawing the traditional lines between mind and matter hegel sees the overcoming of the material in the ideal nietzsche levels the two worlds into one and danto divides the world into representing and non representing material these attempts to overcome dualism necessitate notions of the self that differ significantly from traditional accounts the redrawn boundaries show that art and philosophy grasp essential but different aspects of human existence neither perspective however fully grasps the duality the appearance of art's end occurs when one aspect is given priority for hegel and danto it is the essentialist lens of philosophy and in nietzsche s case the transformative power of artistic creativity thus the book makes the case that the end of art claim is avoided if a theory of art links the internal practice of artistic creation to all of art s historical forms this book is about one person s improbable journey and the transformative role art has played during life s most difficult challenges it is about a young child s initial love of art painting and his rediscovery of the power of art as an adult twenty years later amid a global epidemic the book chronicles the author s path from childhood through college and into the tech industry as a consultant but no amount of success could have prepared the author for the personal devastation that would unfold through the 1990s and beyond this book describes what happened during those trying times and most critically how the author turned to art as the instrumental tool in his search for meaning the pages are about both artistic and personal mistakes as well as triumphs the author provides insight behind the one hundred plus paintings presented here why he chose to paint each painting and in some cases the detailed process behind his paintings this book is indeed a unique autobiographical perspective into the mind and heart of an artist through his journey you will understand the essential power of art this work provides an overview of the progress that has characterized the field of research and policy in art education it profiles and integrates history policy learning curriculum and instruction assessment and competing perspectives this is an analytical survey of the thought about painting and sculpture as it unfolded from the early eighteenth to the mid nineteenth centuries this was the period during which theories of the visual arts particularly of painting and sculpture underwent a radical transformation as a result of which the intellectual foundations of our modern views on the arts were formed because this transformation can only be understood when seen in a broad context of cultural aesthetic and philosophical developments of the period moshe barasch surveys the opinions of the artists and also treats in some detail the doctrines of philosophers poets and critics barasch thus traces for the reader the entire development of modernism in art and art theory
